As a programmer with over 7 years experience, I have worked on numerous projects ranging from desktop applications to web applications and many CLI aps of different complexity and size.

I have worked in MERN stack for the last years developing from simple websites like real estate presentations websites (like imocentral.ro or panoro.ro) to working on very complex applications like a CRM that is composed of multiple modules interconnected and using microservices architecture for the backend.

Other than the MERN stack I have a deep knowledge of building/compiling tools like Webpack and Babel and also worked a long time with Docker and Kubernetes. I'm capable of doing a project from the beginning to the end having a good expertize in all the processes.

Right now I'm helping the current company I work for (Rubrikk) to optimize and squeeze out every drop of performance from our NodeJS services.

I'm confident that my skills developed over the years satisfy the job requirements and make me an excellent candidate for the job.
